Message of Fraternal Greetings to the Second National Congress of the American Communist Party From the Young Socialists of Croatia (Mladi socijalisti Hrvatske – MSH)

Dear Comrades of the American Communist Party,

On behalf of the Young Socialists of Croatia, the youth organization of the Socialist Workers Party of Croatia, we extend our warmest revolutionary greetings to your delegates, members, and leadership gathered for your Second National Congress.

We receive your invitation with great joy and a deep sense of proletarian internationalism. Though separated by an ocean, we are united by the same struggle: the fight against capitalism, imperialism, and the rising tide of fascism that threatens working people across the world.

We salute the American Communist Party for your efforts to build a genuine revolutionary organization in the heart of world imperialism, the very empire that bombs, blockades, and strangles nations: Cuba, Palestine, Venezuela, Iran and others. We know well the difficulties of organizing under a system that uses the state apparatus to crush dissent and silence the revolutionary left. Yet you persist. For that, you have our admiration and solidarity.

Comrades, this year we mark the 90th anniversary of the beginning of the Spanish Civil War, the heroic and tragic chapter in history when the international working class answered the call of the Spanish Republic. Over 35,000 volunteers from 53 countries, including 1,775 Yugoslavs, fought in the International Brigades. They fought at Jarama, Guadalajara, and the Ebro, and their experience became the backbone of our own People's Liberation Struggle. When the fascist aggressors occupied Yugoslavia in 1941, it was the Spanish fighters who formed the core of Yugoslavia's Partisans. All four commanders of the Yugoslav People's Armies in 1945 were Spanish veterans. This history is the living proof that international solidarity is not an abstract slogan, it is a material force that can defeat the most powerful enemies.

Today, as we commemorate that anniversary, we see the same enemy in new forms. The fascist terror of the Second World War is reborn in the neo-Ustaša mobs of Croatia, in the NATO war machine that bombed Yugoslavia in 1999, and in the economic strangulation of Cuba and the genocide in Palestine. The lesson of Spain and Yugoslavia is clear: only international solidarity and the unity of the working class can defeat imperialism. "¡No pasarán!" remains our oath.

As young socialists from Croatia, a land once part of socialist Yugoslavia, we carry the legacy of Tito's Partisans, of the Non-Aligned Movement, and of the Spanish fighters who crossed borders to defend the Republic. We too face the poison of historical revisionism, the rehabilitation of fascist symbols, and the comprador bourgeoisie that sells our homeland to foreign capital. In this common struggle, we extend our hand to you.

We wish your Second Congress every success. May your discussions be sharp, your resolutions bold, and your commitment to the working class unwavering. May this congress mark a new chapter in the fight for socialism in the United States.

Long live the American Communist Party!
Long live proletarian internationalism!
Proleteri svih zemalja, ujedinite se!

With comradely greetings,

For the Young Socialists of Croatia (MSH)

The president Davor Rakić
