Message of Solidarity to the Second National Conference of the American Communist Party

Dear Comrades of the American Communist Party (ACP),

From Baghdad, Iraq, the Iraqi Democratic Youth Union sends you its warmest fraternal greetings on the occasion of your Second National Conference, to be held on October 9–10, 2026.

We are pleased to convey our solidarity and best wishes for the success of your conference. We believe that the struggles of peoples and young people for peace, social justice, democracy, and human dignity are shared struggles, regardless of geographical borders or differences in our circumstances.

Our world today faces profound challenges, from wars and conflicts to poverty, exploitation, inequality, and discrimination. These challenges affect young people in particular and threaten their hopes for a better future. In confronting them, the unity of progressive forces and the strengthening of international solidarity are more important than ever.

From Iraq, a country that has endured the devastating consequences of wars and conflicts, we reaffirm our conviction that peace is a fundamental right of every people, and that democracy, social justice, equality, and human rights are essential foundations for a better future.

We look forward to strengthening the fraternal ties between the Iraqi Democratic Youth Union and the American Communist Party, and to developing new opportunities for dialogue, cooperation, and the exchange of experiences between our organizations.

We wish your Second National Conference every success in its work and extend our warmest fraternal greetings to all comrades and delegates participating in this important gathering.

Long live international solidarity among the youth and peoples of the world.

Long live the struggle for peace, justice, democracy, and a better future.

With fraternal and solidarity greetings,
